

German Research Foundation Workshop

DFG FUNDING PROGRAMS FOR EARLY-CAREER RESEARCHERS AND TRANSATLANTIC COOPERATION.

The DFG (German Research Foundation) is the largest self-governing funding organization for basic research in Germany and in Europe. With an annual budget of just over 2.5 billion euros, the DFG promotes the advancement of science and the humanities by funding research projects and facilitating cooperation among researchers. The DFG enables cross-border cooperation between researchers and supports collaboration with international partners in all of its funding programs.
