Astronomer Plait professes not doomsday scenarios but a sober assessment of real, although rare, cosmic threats.

An insect colony of millions of specialized individuals self-regulates as if it were a single organism.

and perceptions are unique in history.